

Presentation Abstract:

"While most power supplies are inexpensive and perform well in commercial and residential applications, they are not designed nor manufactured for the harsh environments and strict operational requirements of military applications.

To meet the requirements of military systems and more demanding mission critical applications, it is essential that a high-quality, rugged product designed to pass strict military standards and made specifically for those harsh operating environments is deployed."

Company Overview:

Nova Power Corporate Description

NOVA Power Solutions, Inc., has been a leading supplier of high quality power protection products since 1988. NOVA is a woman-owned, small business. Our focus is to provide tailored power protection solutions to meet the specific requirements of our customer. NOVA specializes in heavy-duty, rack-mounted and stand-alone UPS's. Our rugged and ruggedized UPS's are MIL-STD compliant and particularly suited to shipboard, tactical military and other harsh operating environments. NOVA's shipboard, rack mount power protection products provide our military and industrial customers a wide-range of power protection and battery backup alternatives, combined with industry-leading technical support and customer service in the industry. www.novapower.com